Co-op Opportunities for Social Sciences and Humanities Students

Co-op is a cornerstone of Northeastern University’s curriculum whereby students alternate periods of in-school coursework with six month periods of full-time work. The combination of academic study and work produces an overall learning experience that gives greater meaning to students’ studies and more direction to their career development. The College of Social Sciences and Humanities is pleased to offer a vibrant and exciting program that helps our students gain professional experience, explore potential career paths, and enrich their academics.

Students can complete up to three co-ops and work in many exciting and progressive fields. Our majors include:

SOCIAL SCIENCES
- African American Studies
- Asian Studies
- Cultural Anthropology
- Criminology and Criminal Justice
- Economics
- Education
- Human Services
- International Affairs
- Jewish Studies
- Political Science
- Sociology

HUMANITIES
